Stop regulating us to death!

1p7

On air bags: You have heard all the arguments against them, and I have nothing new to add. My personal reason for not wanting one in my car is that I am a small woman who sits close to the steering wheel and I do not want to die in this stupid attempt to save my life. I have worn a seat belt since 1952 when we paid to have them installed.

I am still driving my Plymouth Reliant (1986). One reason I will not buy a new car now is the air bag issue. I would not pay to have one removed either.

Sincerely,

Margaret S. Robinson
